S. 1430

To provide loan forgiveness to social workers who work for child protective agencies.

---

IN THE SENATE OF THE UNITED STATES

JULY 20, 2005

Mr. DEWINE (for himself and Mr. ROCKEFELLER) introduced the following bill; which was read twice and referred to the Committee on Health, Education, Labor, and Pensions

A BILL

To provide loan forgiveness to social workers who work for child protective agencies.

1       Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representa-
2       tives of the United States of America in Congress assembled,

3       SECTION 1. FINDINGS.

4       Congress makes the following findings:

5               (1) Approximately 3,000,000 reports of child
6       abuse and neglect must be investigated each year.

7               (2) Approximately 1,000,000 of these reports
8       are confirmed and require ongoing intervention.

1           (3) On any given day in the United States,
2           more than 500,000 children are being served outside
3           their homes by the child welfare system.

4           (4) These children are served in more than 5           150,000 foster homes and more than 5,000 residen-
6           tial programs.

7           (5) The child welfare workforce crisis has devel-
8           oped as the result of the following 3 major factors:

9                   (A) Overall low levels of unemployment
10                  and the resulting increase in competition for 11                  workers in all sectors of the economy.

12                  (B) The increasing numbers of children
13                  and families needing service coupled with the 14                  decreasing numbers of workers in the employ-
15                  ment pool.

16                  (C) The relatively low pay and difficult
17                  working conditions that exist in many child wel-
18                  fare agencies.

19           (6) The vacancy rate in State child welfare
20           agencies is 8.1 percent, and 14.3 percent for private 21           agencies.

22           (7) The overall turnover rate in child welfare
23           agencies has doubled since 1991, to 13.9 percent in 24           public agencies and to 46.5 percent in private agen-
25           cies.

1           (8) The child welfare workforce crisis is real
 2           and is already compromising the ability of the child
 3           welfare system to effectively provide essential serv-
 4           ices to its children and families. In addition, analysis
 5           of trends indicates that the situation will worsen
 6           over the next decade. It is clear that steps must be 7           taken now to encourage more workers to enter the 8           child welfare services field and to improve the sala-
 9           ries, working conditions, and training of workers
 10          who provide these critically important services.

11 SEC. 2. LOAN FORGIVENESS FOR CHILD WELFARE WORK-
 12 ERS.

13          Part B of title IV of the Higher Education Act of
